Data Projects

Fantasy Football with Deep Learning

- Created a LSTM model in Keras with a tensorflow backend
- predicted optimal weekly fantasy football lineups

Analyzing Real Estate Descriptions

- Used natural language processing to cluster real estate descriptions by topic
- Used BeautifulSoup and Selenium to scrape the data

Classification of Credit Card Defaults

- Used classification methods random forest, and logistic regression to identify if a credit card holder was going to default
- Created a cost function for false positives and negatives to optimize the model to be the most cost effective for the lender

Visualizing MTA Subway Data

- Combined subway and census data to recommend the placement of canvassers around New York
